

SO MUCH TO CELEBRATE!

A SPECIAL NOTE FOR MOM OR DAD:

Your child's birthday month is a great time to schedule a regular developmental screening with your doctor or other professional.

A developmental screening takes a look at how children are doing in important areas, such as communication, physical ability, social skills, and problem-solving skills.

A screening helps identify what your child is good at as well as any areas where they may need extra help or practice.

After you complete a developmental screening, a professional will review your responses and talk with you about what they learned. If there are no concerns about how your child is growing and learning, there is nothing more you will need to do other than the normal activities you do with your child. If your child needs help with some skills, your early childhood provider or doctor will help you with next steps. Support is available to all children and families.

All parents play an important role in their child's learning and development. By completing a developmental screening, you are making sure your child is off to a strong start!
